

Sometimes you can do everything right and things will still go wrong.

The key is to never stop doing right.